It is the intention of the commission, so far as finances will permit, to protect the points of amputation with a preparation of lime; that will be done in good season.

DR. PIPER'S COMMENTS. Dr. R. U. Piper contributes more to the discussion as follows: In beginning the discussion of the destruction of the trees now going on in the streets and parks in the city I had no other object in my mind than if possible to get at the truth in the matter and to do what I could to

Very certainly if these statements or proposi tions can be shown to be incorrect and the van-dal work done in accordance with them to be not only unnecessary but absolutely and conspicuously an outrage upon every principle of beauty, and totally the reverse as to being effective in the preservation of the trees, then this devastating process ought at once be put a stop to. The first statement of the commissioner reads: "We are cutting carefully and deliber-We are cutting carefully and deliber ately." Does the commissioner not know that the veriest beginner in tree-surgery is taught never to cut a limb horizontally, but always to make the cut as near vertical as possible, in order that the stump may not become the place of deposit of dust and injurious matters, held Assignment stock of furniture at private sale until day of auction. Another common practice, which would seem very necessary, especially in a city, and which is observed by all careful tree culturists in other places, seems entirely unknown here—that is the covering the wounded stump of the amputated limb with some kind of waterproof cement. Without this precaution, no matter in what shape the this precaution, no matter in what shape the cure places of reception for microscopic germs, perhaps dangerous to human life as well as that of the tree. Under the microscope I observe several varieties of microbes, as well as a great number of dust forms, which are found floating in the air in every city.

Second. The commissioner says: "Something had to be done to save a great number of valuable trees, and as nothing but trimming would do that, we commenced to trim. Here it will be observed that we have no intimation whatever as to what is the matter with the trees, only an assertion that nothing but trim-ming (decapitation?) would save them." How many of them will die under the operation it will perhaps be impossible to foretell, but one thing is certain in regard to all that survive, awarded the honors: Frank Romaine, they will develop into uncouth monstrosities ell Cain, Edward Scanlon and Perry John-
